SAY THEY ARE INNOCENT.

Mrs. Van Horn and Lloyd obtained writs of Habeas Corpus.

Justice Beach, in Supreme Court Chambers, today issued writs of habeas corpus in the cases of Mrs. Delta Van Horn and Frederick Hughes Lloyd, who are locked up in Jefferson Market Prison on a charge of kidnapping Charles Kunk, six years old, of Chicago.

Mrs. Van Horn was arrested on Saturday day last at 125 West Nineteenth street, where as Mrs. Hughes she had established herself as a physician. Lloyd and the child was found at 301 Clifton place, Brooklyn, was arrested. The arrest came due chiefly to a complaint made a month ago by Mrs. Van Horn's husband, J. J.
Van Horn, a manufacturer, at 306 Eighth avenue, who informed the police that that a woman named Delta Hughes was living with Lloyd at 129 West Fifteenth street, and with her was a six-year-old child. Lloyd was accused of having pernicious influences. Supt. Jenkins also received word from the Illinois Humane Society to apprehend a woman named Lloyd for kidnapping a woman named The Chicago advises were that in November last Lloyd and the Van Horn woman, Mrs. Kunk, came from the Chicago and St. Louis Asylum and were to keep it a month, and then determine if they would adopt it permanently.
Nothing was heard from the pair, whom the Society sent to Hoboken, N. J., Gerry Society's agents then traced the pair, finally locating Mrs. Van Horn at 129 West Nineteenth street.

Understand, Mrs. Van Horn is a member of Dr. MacArthur's church, West Fifty-seventh street, and he and his wife have lived apart for years.

Mrs. Van Horn says that the asylum authorities had no restrictions on her taking the child. She says that Lloyd is her cousin, and merely boarded with her.

HIS SCALES WERE SHORT.

Forman Arrested on the Charge of Defrauding Customers.

Max Forman, twenty-four years old, of 55 Forsyth street, a vendor, was held for examination in the Tombs Police Court to-day, charged with violating the corporation ordinance relative to weights.

Forman is a raisin peddler. Yesterday Salvator Ricco, of 55 Mulberry street, and Salvator Ricco, of Brooklyn, bought some from him. On going to pay, he chased another pair of scales they found their purchase was a quarter of a pound short.

The two men complained to Policeman Price of the Elizabeth street station, and Forman was arrested.
